

St. Matthew Lutheran Christian Academy, Stony Plain, AB

These are trying times for Lutheran Education in Canada. Many of our Lutheran Schools have closed in recent years, and while some may still operate, they have moved away from our Lutheran system.

This is why many of our Lutheran school administrators are looking south of the border for support and professional development. The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod (LCMS) still has a strong Lutheran education system, and they continue to graciously allow us to tap into the various educational resources they have to offer.

Every year the Lutheran Education Association offers a conference for administrators. Pastor Mark Dressler is able to attend this year's conference in March 2018 due to a generous grant from the ABC District. It will allow him to confer with other Lutheran Administrators and he will attend professional development sessions geared specifically for his vocation.

Pastor Dressler and the students and staff of SML Christian Academy in Stony Plain thank the District for its ongoing support of the school.
